The price of THE WEEKLY NATIONAL REPUBLICAN is wanted on Thursday, January 1, 1882. It is a bi-monthly sheet of eight pages and five columns.

It contains news from all parts of the world, and is especially interesting in containing the proceedings of the various legislatures, and the doings of the Government, including the appointments, promotions, assignments, and dismissals in all departments of Government, as well as the names of the members of Congress, and the names of the various committees.

It contains a full report of army and naval movements and events. It includes a special page for the press, and a column of second-hand news and so-called "news of the Nation's Capital."

In short, it is the best and only weekly paper in America giving in addition to full present news from all parts of the world, a complete photograph of life, society, politics, and business.

Price: Single copies, ONE DOLLAR AND FIFTY PENTS; per year, two copies or more to one address, ONE DOLLAR per copy. Postage prepaid by the publishers.

Mr. Hubbell and His Assailants.

All executive officers or agents of the United States not appointed by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, are prohibited from requesting, giving to, or receiving from any other officer or employee of the government any money or property or other thing of value for political purposes; and any such officer or employee who shall offend against the provisions of this act, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding five hundred dollars.—United States Revised Statutes, Chapter 25, Section 6.

The above is the section which George William Curtis pretends to believe is being violated by those executive officers or employees of the United States, therein described, who contribute money to the campaign funds of the Republican Congressional Committee.

The committee, over the signature of its chairman, the Hon. Jay A. Hubbell, has issued a circular soliciting contributions. The New York Civil-Service Reform Association, over the signature of its president, George William Curtis, has issued a circular to such executive officers and employees as are described in the section of law quoted, warning them that if they contribute they are liable to removal and a penalty of fine. To this Chairman Hubbell has responded in a letter, in which he says:

"And now as to the law over which all this dispute is going on. We have quoted it in full at the beginning of this article. It is directed to executive officers and employees below the grade of such as are appointed by the President, and who have to be confirmed by the Senate. They are not to collect contributions from other officers or employees, nor to pay any to them.

They may pay to persons who are not officers or employees of the government.

The law does not intend to prohibit the payment of contributions by you or your agent to the campaign funds of the Republican Congressional Committee.

The law is not directed against contributions!

It is intended to prevent contributions from being solicited of subordinates by their superiors or by other subordinates.
